Carter Joins Pilgrim's Pride as Senior Vice President of Commodity Risk Management

PITTSBURG, Texas, July 16, 2007 /PRNewswire-FirstCall via COMTEX News Network/ -- Pilgrim's Pride Corporation (NYSE: PPC), the world's largest chicken company, today announced that W. Edwin Carter has joined the company as senior vice president of commodity risk management.

In this newly created position, Mr. Carter is responsible for setting the strategic direction and exposure to all commodity-based items such as grains, meals, oils, gas and diesel. Pilgrim's Pride ranks among the largest grain buyers in the nation, purchasing approximately 324 million bushels of corn and 3 million tons of soybean meal annually. He will report to O.B. Goolsby Jr., Pilgrim's Pride president and chief executive officer.

"Soaring prices for corn, soybean meal and other commodities represent one of the biggest operating challenges facing the chicken industry today, so it is imperative that we seize every opportunity to manage these costs and reduce our exposure to market volatility," said Mr. Goolsby. "Edwin has a proven track record of managing risk in a wide variety of commodity markets, and we are confident that he will be a valuable addition to our senior management team."

Mr. Carter has more than 20 years of experience in trading and risk management in commodity markets. Before joining Pilgrim's Pride, he served as director of procurement -- commodity risk management for Coca-Cola Bottlers' Sales & Services Company LLC in Atlanta, Ga., with responsibility for managing commodity risk for the bottlers of the world's most recognized brand.

He previously served as director of dairy and cheese purchasing and commodity risk management for United Foodservice Purchasing Co-op in Dallas, Texas, where he was responsible for the day-to-day procurement and price risk management for dairy and cheese items for Yum! Brands Inc., the world's largest restaurant company. Prior to holding that position, Mr. Carter was a commodity trader for Perdue Farms, Inc. and Central Soya Co., as well as a cash/futures grain broker.

Mr. Carter earned bachelor's and master's degrees in agricultural economics from the University of Kentucky in Lexington.
